

She's fourteen, raped and pregnant.
Go on, tell her to kill herself.

The only reason the government is holding a referendum on abortion is to roll back the Supreme Court judgement supporting a raped and pregnant 14-year old's right to a termination. If the same thing happens tomorrow, under Albert Reynold's referendum wording, his answer will be to let her commit suicide or export the problem to a country mature enough to deal with it. This is treating women and their lives and health with contempt. It is weak and dangerous leadership.

The wording on the substantive issue does not cater for cases where pregnancy results from rape, incest or abuse. Also, women's life and health are being gambled away for political gain. Through their anti-woman wording, Albert Reynolds and his spin-doctors are telling women who are carrying health-damaging pregnancies that they will effectively be treated with contempt. A woman's health and even her ability to bear future children does not seem of concern to the male-led decision-makers. They are attempting to write women out of a debate which only women themselves are best qualified to decide on. Let's tell Albert Reynolds on November 25th what Mná na hÉireann think of that.

PLEASE VOTE NO TO THE SUBSTANTIVE ISSUE

On the issue of travel, it is absurd that we as a European nation are being asked to vote on the 'right' of Irish women to travel out of the country. It is a sad reflection of what Albert Reynolds and his government think of women.
WE URGE A YES VOTE TO THE TRAVEL ISSUE
(Green Ballot Paper)

Information is the key to mature and compassionate decision making. Any banning or over-restrictive distribution of information on all pregnancy options for women will only lead to an increase in the numbers of Irish seeking abortion. All around the world, where proper counselling and information is available, abortion numbers are falling. Banning information from Irish women is an insult to their dignity and responsibility. It's time to make a stand for Mná na hÉireann.
